Statement-II

Steps taken/being taken to increase the production of pulses

For increasing the production of pulsese, two schemes, viz. Centrally Sponsored National Pulses Development Project (NPDP) and Central Sector Special Food Production Programme—pulses (SFPP) are being implemented in the country. During 1991-92, the outlay is Rs. 21.00 crore and Rs. 6.00 crore, respectively. The amount under NPDP is to be met on 75:25 basis on most of the components by the Central and State Governments, whereas 100 per cent expenditure is to be made by the Central Government under SFPP (pulses). The NPDP is being implemented in 134 selected districts in the country. The crops covered under the Project are Arhar, Gram, Moong, Urad, Lentil and Peas. The Project provides for adoption of a dual approach by (i) increasing the area through multiple cropping and (ii) increasing productivity for unit area. Under this Project assistance is provided for production and distribution of seeds, distribution of seed minikits, plant protection measures, supply of improved farm implements and organising demonstrations to induce the farmers to take up cultivation of pulses with improved technology on large scale. Emphasis is also laid on the stage-wise production and distribution of seeds. Stress is given for the timely and proper use of inputs. Pulses have been included in the mandate of the Technology Mission on Oilseeds (and pulses). An integrated approach to crop production technology, farmers support services, post harvest technology and price support/market intervention is being adopted to increase the productivity levels of pulses. The SFPP provides assistance for the control of Podborer, outworm and termite for Gram and Arhar crops. Assistance for encouraging the cultivation of summer pulses is provided on the distribution of seeds.
